CHLOE Payne's inspirational deeds at the Esther Foundation have helped turn her life around, while providing a positive example to other women at the South Perth-based health and development program.

Chloe (16), a program participant at the foundation, has been actively involved in mentoring youth and raising money for charity over the past 15 months.

A finalist in Silver Chain's Caring in the Community awards, she said she wanted to be a role model for other women.

"I love helping the girls out and want them to feel good about themselves."

She is now studying a community services course at Tafe.

Esther Foundation spokeswoman Tina Damasco described Chloe as a "generous and selfless" person. "Anytime there is a need or volunteering is called upon, Chloe is the first one to put her hand up," she said.
